“ My beautiful daughter, you will always live through your daughter each and every day. When I see her smile and here her laugh, I see you and hear you. You brought me wonderful love and I thank God that I had you as long as I did. You brought like back to complete strangers through your compassion and love of others. 5 people will live on through your gift of life and every day your daughter will always remember you forever. She will bring joy to the world and carry on your love for others. I will miss you my baby girl and even though my heart has broken, your memory and your daughters life will mend it to go on. Fly high my angel and whispers sweet love words in our dreams. I send my love to heaven on the wings of an angel to kiss you upon your cheek..❤️
