“ Larry was one of the guys I was proud to call a friend. I loved going over in the mornings and having coffee with him and gossip like 2 old men. He was so kind and generous to anyone he meant. He would do anything he could for you. I can remember when I said I better get going and he would always say no need to hurry I have something to tell you. He never did. I guess he liked my company. I know I loved his. I wished I would have spent more time with him this summer instead of so much time at the lake. He will be greatly missed by me and a lot of other people. Condolences to Ethel and family and friends. He was one Heck of a nice guy and was glad when he moved in next door. Miss you already buddy. R.I.P. your friend Steve
