“ Mark was a special person. He was one of the nicest and most loyal human beings I've ever met. Whether it was on or off the field, I always had fun spending time with Mark. He was a blessing for our program, and played a key role in our success. His passion for the game of baseball was second to none, and his ability to positively influence those around him was special. Mark always put his players before himself. On many occasions, I witnessed Mark sacrifice his personal time and money to give those less fortunate an opportunity to play baseball. He was a great coach, but an even better person.

“ I feel so lucky to have known Mark - he was a great guy. He and I shared a passion for baseball, but I was even more impressed with the care and concern that he showed for his players. Coaches sacrifice time, money, and a part of themselves when they enter the profession and though Mark is gone, former players, coaches, and friends will continue his legacy.
