Norm is sorely missed. I had only begun getting to know Norm When I first moved into the apartment building that he lived. When the weather was nice it was not unusual that we would both be outside. I really enjoyed talking with him. We would share some stories of our individual country living, our dogs, and our mutual interest in the history of Huntington and other times past. I miss seeing his smile when my dog, Lilly, would pull me toward him and got his attention. I missed him the vary day he passed on. There is an emptiness at home every time I pass through the lobby and don't see him visiting other residents, and I miss our talks. Fly high Norm! And thank you for your friendship! I am keeping all his loved ones and friends in my prayer.
