I knew Fred in our childhood..grew up on Frederick St. in Huntington. Lost track of him when I went into service(Navy). The last few years couldn't get back to town, due to health issues, to look him up, but always wanted to. Fred was a Good hearted friend who will surely be missed by many including us. Our sympathies to the family.

Fred and I went to the sweetheart dance in high school, and we laughed and sang all night, I loved his mother too, she became a good friend. I ran into him a few years later when I was going through a nasty divorce. He helped me through some tough times, and would do anything for a friend. I want his kids to know how much he meant and how much he loved them. I'm sorry I didn't know of his death, until after his funeral. Fly high, gentle man.

“ I'll never forget the first time I met fred. My dad and him always did this weird pinky thing at each other to say hi. He was the kindness man... his outter image contradicted his heart because he was a sweet Gentle man who always wore the craziest outfits... but didn't care what people thought. I'll always remember the time he walked up to my friend and her daughter and handed her a dollar and said take her to the play area. He was a complete stranger and still was the kindest man. You are missed fred even by people you may have never talked to in your life... may you rest in peace (:
