“ I never knew when I first met you that one day we would be family. When married your son you gave me your blessing to call you dad and that meant the world to me. Family is everything and the way you listened when I needed to vent, or a shoulder to cry on, or the words or wisdom to help us through our troubled times. You never gave up on me. Ypu always told me I was easy on the eyes and I gave a new hope to your son in a way no other has ever been able to. I will always miss you pops, your loving daughter in law Cristie
